Extraordinary views of the magnificent Dordogne River & the Valley of the Five Chateaux present themselves from each of the four floors (64 steps from the kitchen to the lower terrace). The front door opens directly from the cobblestone streets - just steps from our private and unique parking grotto - into the main room of approximately 60 sq. meters. Honey colored stone walls; stone tile floor, ancient wooden beams and a huge medieval fireplace set the tone for this main floor.

The fully equipped kitchen with a granite countered cooking area is built into one of the old fireplaces. Antique carpets & leather seating offers a comfortable area to relax, listen to the stereo or view English satellite television on the 30" flat panel television. The large dining table suitable for seating up to 6 diners is next to the window offering spectacular views of the river, the sunset and the colourful hot air balloons drifting by at dawn & sunset in the season.

Down the stone staircase is the master bedroom with an ensuite bathroom combining modern fixtures with stone walls. A king-size bed with temperpedic mattress, reading lamps, desk and a large private full width balcony with loungers, barbeque and dining table for two make this room the ideal spot to relax and admire the view.

One floor down, the old merchants store room now is the second large bedroom, again with stone walls, ancient beamed ceiling and a river view. This room is set up as either a king size bed or two twins. An ensuite bathroom and a full laundry room with washer & dryer.

The next floor down brings you to two flagstone terraces, one with a grape and wisteria arbor for a shaded sitting area which includes a small fountain & a few steps down, the sunny lower terrace. Garden furniture and barbecue grill.
