

Gîte Une, LANGUEDOC

- 1 bedroom – Sleeps 2
- Shared pool

This collection of beautifully restored two-hundred-year-old farm buildings is situated in the heart of the Languedoc region of south-west France – near the town of Bram, between the cities of Carcassonne (23km) and Toulouse (65km).

Gîte Une is a large, single-story cottage with a spacious double super king bed, and open-planned living room. The large French door entrance creates a bright and welcoming spacious living room, with stone fireplace and comfortable sofas providing a relaxing living space. A stereo system, TV (Satellite) and Wifi

The antique table and chairs in the dining area are in keeping with the style throughout the gîte. The kitchen area combines a clean modern style with old rural French achieved by using contemporary units and some free-standing furniture. Fully equipped with a sink, fridge, coffee machine, oven and stove, microwave, toaster, crockery, cutlery, cooking utensils and pots and pans. Washing machine, iron and ironing board.

The ensuite bathroom is off the other side of the bedroom and equipped with a shower, basin & toilet, and hair-dryer.

The gîte looks out onto its own terrace with outdoor furniture. The furniture consists of a wooden table with wooden chairs and cushions, and BBQ.

The swimming-pool enclosure is sheltered from the wind and plenty of shade, with sun umbrellas and loungers.

There are two other self-contained cottages in another building, each with their own private outdoor area, a large, shared pool, and all surrounded by a beautifully-maintained garden setting.
